WHAT DO WE DO?

COMMUNICATIONS

We establish and operate an emergency communications HUB to communicate amongst ourselves and out of the area utilizing amateur radio and Marine VHF communications systems. The HUB also serves as a meeting place where we can exchange face-to-face communications, collect and post information on available needs and resources and help people make necessary connections during a disaster.

We host a Vessel Mutual Assistance Net to help boaters communicate with each other in an emergency. We practice communications skills on our V-MAN Net on Marine VHF Channel 71 meeting every Monday evening at 8pm local time. Everyone is urged to tune in and participate.

We host www.shilsholeprepares.org so that we may more easily connect as a community and disseminate relevant information about our mission.

TRAINING

We help prepare for disasters by offering training opportunities in emergency preparation and survival skills. Future training includes amateur radio licensing, firefighting, CERT and SNAP training.

INTEGRATION

We coordinate and integrate our plans with the Shilshole Livaboard Association, the Port of Seattle, the Seattle Auxiliary Communications Service, other Ballard HUBs and the Ballard District Council.
